BLENDED SCOTCH WHISKY

SINCE 1864

100 PROOF

From the award winning Duncan Taylor Scotch Whisky Company and Black Bull brand comes Kyloe, a brand new release to add to the Black Bull fold.

Kyloe (pronounced Kahy-loh) is inspired by the hardy breed of highland cattle, the Kyloe, known to survive in the bitter windswept highlands and islands of Scotland. Black Bull Kyloe shares much of its likeness with this great breed – robust and with outstanding pedigree.

Kyloe is blended using the finest malt and grain whisky, at a high ratio of malt to grain, and bottled at a hearty 50% abv, without the use of chill filtration, to offer a bold, authentic and powerful sensory experience.

MATURED TWELVE YEARS IN OAK CASKS

True to its heritage and truly different to the norm, Black Bull 12 year old blended Scotch whisky is bottled at a higher strength and contains a higher malt whisky content than most of the blended Scotch whiskies available today. This robust but versatile blend can be served neat, with water, or as a component of cocktails.

Black Bull is draped in history. The blend can trace its origins back to 1864, when it was first produced by George Willsher & Co in Dundee, Scotland, and with the repeal of prohibition in the 1930's, Black Bull really came to prominence in markets around the world. Black Bull continues to be available in markets worldwide and is blended and bottled, with care, by the award winning Duncan Taylor Scotch Whisky Ltd.
