

SMOKIN'

BLENDED
SCOTCH WHISKY

Blended in small batches, Duncan Taylor has created a modern Blended Whisky using peaty malts from throughout Scotland, and paying homage to the legendary old, heavy smoky blends of yesteryear.

Smokin' contains smoky whiskies from distilleries throughout Scotland, no-longer bound by regional definitions. The Master Blender has perfectly balanced the robust peat smoke flavours now being produced by mainland Scottish Distillers and complimented them with the smooth notes of toffee and vanilla produced by pairing grain whisky and fresh bourbon casks.

Smokin' is renowned for its rich flavour and un-compromising character, a full bodied experience to be savoured.

Tasting Notes:

Nose:

Gentle, clean, and fresh peat smoke, with subtle citrus undertones. Soft Mocha coffee topped with vanilla cream, all with a hint of damp seaweed.

Taste:

Creamy and sweet with a puff of ashy smoke at the front. A touch of milky caramel and chocolate, salt preserved lemons, vanilla syrup with a buttery, nutty texture.

Finish:

The sweetness fades to become pleasingly off dry, some clove and cinnamon warmth, the smoke gently dies down to peat fire embers.

WHISKY AS IT USED TO BE

